FOREWORD

Fortunately for me, both of my grandmothers took an interest in the genealogies of their families and handed down to me many accurate records. Both also told me of a number of family beliefs and traditions which, of course, had to be verified. I myself had always been interested in genealogy, and especially recently in connection with the Daughters of the American Revolution.

I had always hoped someday to find time to set down what facts I had and to look up a few things that needed verification. But I became more engrossed as new lines opened up and required checking, so that what was to have been a few typewritten pages done in a few days, has now become this volume, representing somewhat more than a few days work.

A number of collateral lines have been included, with the belief that they may be of interest to others; many of these collateral lines are of people who were my grandmothers' contemporaries and were personally known to them. The relationship they bear to the family was known by them to be true.

GERTRUDE FLORY DINKEY.

DINKEY

HE first trace of the Dinkeys is in Blankenburger Schloss, Germany. They fled from there to England and Ireland. There are records of their settling in County Limerick, near Arbela, Adair, and Rathkeale, Ireland.

Martin Dinkey sailed from Rotterdam on the ship "ROYAL JUDITH" and landed at Philadelphia, October 2, 1743. The first settling was made in Virginia and the Carolinas. Some of them returned to Pennsylvania, near Cherrysville, Northampton County.

In the Indian Massacre of 1755 at Heidelberg, "Milchor Dinke and his Datter" were killed. His wife, Catherine, and two daughters, Mary and Margaretha, and a two-year-old son, Jacob, survived.

Catherine Dinkey, of Cherrysville (then Lehigh Township), Northampton County, Pennsylvania, communed at the old Lutheran Church at the "Forks of the Delaware" near Easton on Easter, 1770. Extract: Orphans' Court Proceedings of Northampton County (Book B, Page 35), March 25, 1761. "The Petition asking for guardian to be appointed was presented of John Wassum and Katherine, his wife, late Katherine Dincke, widow of Michael Dincke, late of Heidelberg Township. Said Michael Dincke died in or about 1756, possessed of a small estate, leaving said Katherine and issue, three children, Mary, Margaret, and Jacob, all under the age of fourteen years. Balance £53.1.1. Frederick Kern and Leonard Horr appointed guardians."

homestead was of stone and had a corner stone "Jacob Dinkey, Th. 27, April, 1803". In 1916 it was in the estate of George Peifly and is located about one mile from Egypt Church. Jacob wrote and signed all of his documents in German. He was a blacksmith by trade, and also had a slate quarry. He served in the Revolution in the Third Battalion of Northampton County, July 8, 1777, Fifth Company, Captain Conrad Ritter.

They lived across the Blue Mountain in West Penn Township. Susannah's parents were John Stofflet and Eva Troxell. Jacob brought from Philadelphia, by team, a Bible printed in Nuremberg in 1765 by Johan Andrae. It was owned by James, his son; Anna, his daughter, and then by Reuben, his youngest son who was the father of CHARLES DINKEY. It is now owned by CHARLES DINKEY, JR. Jacob was a blacksmith and had a forge in connection with a store and farm. He raised apples known as the Dinkey Apple that were famous locally. He was the first postmaster of Pennsville (now Ashfield). In 1820 he was appointed Justice of the Peace and held this office until his death. He was appointed Associate Judge in 1843. He also operated a tavern. The documents concerning the Tavern and the Justice of the Peace Certificates are owned by CHARLES DINKEY, JR. Between the years 1820 and 1832, Jacob changed the spelling of his name to Dinkey. He often wrote his documents in German and signed his name in English. He was a Mason. The first school house was built on his farm, and various members of the family have taught and been taught in it.

Charles Eugene Dinkey was born in North Braddock, Pennsylvania, Feb. 20, 1904, the son of Charles Eugene Dinkey and Lelia Ada Boyd. He attended the North Braddock Public School, then Arnold School in Pittsburgh, and graduated from Lehigh University in 1925 with the degree of Mining Engineer. After graduation he worked for the New York Stock Exchange firm of M. J. Meehan and Company in New York; the last several years as their representative on the New York Curb Exchange. Leaving there in 1930, he returned to Pittsburgh and soon thereafter purchased his own membership in the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange. He is a member of the University Club, Longue Vue Club, and Fellowship Lodge, F. & A. M. While in New York he married Gertrude Vail Flory. She was born in Scranton, Pennsylvania, and was raised in Milwaukee, Wisconsin. When 14, her family moved to New York. She attended the Rayson School in New York, the Kew-Forest Preparatory School on Long Island, and finished at Fairfax Hall in Virginia. She graduated from the Fawcett School of Art, and attended the Grand Central Art School, the Art Institute of New York, and studied with Robert Henri. She has exhibited in Newark, New York, and Carnegie Art Galleries, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. She is a member of the

CARNAHAN

The Carnahans were from the North of Ireland. They settled in Cumberland County, Pennsylvania, in 1720. By 1774 they had moved to Bell Township, Westmoreland County. The Carnahan Block House was built on Adam Carnahan's land, now the William McCauley farm. Adam's son, John, was shot by the Indians, August, 1777, and James, his other son, later was Major Carnahan. (Boucher's Westmoreland and others has John as James' father, but I believe this to be incorrect.)

(84) JAMES CARNAHAN, b. Jan. 13, 1754; d. May 31, 1788; bur. Cumberland County, Pa.; m. 1773.

(85) HANNAH MAHAN.

James was a Major in the Revolution, serving in the First Continental Line, Eighth Regiment in the Pennsylvania Division, as well as being one of Joseph Erwin's Pennsylvania Riflemen. He was discharged in 1778, having fought at Brandywine and Germantown. He was drowned in the Allegheny River while on an alarm. Hannah remarried (Gennings) and the record is to be found in Deed Book, Vol 9, p. 454-455; Vol. 14, p. 351-2; Vol. 1, p. 246, in the Court House at Greensburg, Pennsylvania. In some references Hannah's name is spelled Mahon and Mahone.

Children:

1. James, D.D., LL.D., b. Nov. 15, 1775, President of Princeton Univ., 1833-1854; m. Mary Van Dyke.

WALLACE

George Wallace was married to Mary McKee in Comber, County Down, Ireland, on Dec. 5, 1776, by Greystone, Minister of Comber. He and Mary and his wife's sisters, Eliza and Jane McKee, came to America on the Ship "Cleopatra" in 1791, sailing from Belfast. George is presumed to be the father of Samuel Wallace. The family tradition is that Samuel was about a year old when he came to America with his parents and brothers and sisters, Mary, John, Betty, Robert, and what appears to be Litter.

A receipt for passage on the "Cleopatra" of the above people, signed by Hugh Crawford, was brought to America, also a letter of recommendation from Sam Cotton, Defs 9, Minister, and is certified by George Brush, Justice of the Peace, County Down.

(22) SAMUEL WALLACE, b. 1790.

(23) ELIZA JANE HUNTER, bur. Unity Cemetery, Westmoreland County, Pa.

The Wallaces lived in Westmoreland County near the Boyds and the Hunters. The Wallaces moved to Ashland, Ohio, where Margaret Ann was married. They also lived for eight years in Bloomington, Illinois.

THE GENEALOGY of FLORY-DINKEY FAMILY

FLORY

There was an important branch of the Flory family living at Neufchâtel, in French Switzerland, in the 16th century. Some of the family fled to the United Netherlands at the time of the Huguenot persecutions. They settled first at Delft and later in Brielle. In that city there were many members of the Flory family and its Walloon Church seems to have been the real cradle of the Florys.

Most of the Florys were in military service and loyal to the House of Orange. The well known Cavalry Captain, Henry Flory de Culan, Lord of Buat, and of St. Gyla Forrest and Du Gest, was one of them. (The famous novel "Elizabeth Musch" was about Henry Flory's wife.)

We find many Florys in the 18th century in the Province of Flanders, Seeland, and South Holland, and some in The Hague as early as 1618. Anthonio Amerogen Van Flory and wife lived there at that date. They had a son, Gilles Van Flory, and daughter, Appolomia Van Flory, who had family graves in St. Jacob's Church at The Hague.

Among the immigrants who sailed from Holland to America were three brothers, Johannes, George, and Adolphus Flory. They landed in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, on Nov. 7, 1754, aboard the ship "John and Elizabeth", which came from Amsterdam with Peter Ham as Captain.

(192) JOHANNES FLOREY settled near Philadelphia and a record of his marriage is to be seen in the Archives of the Evangelical Lutheran Seminary Library Building at Mt. Airy, Philadelphia; m. April 7, 1760.

Curtis Bertram Flory was born Oct. 13, 1873, at 1308 North Washington Ave., Scranton, Lackawanna County, Pennsylvania. His children were also born there.

For many years Curtis spent his summers with his grandfather, Rev. E. S. H. Cobb, on the farm 13 miles East of Scranton, near Salem, Wayne County. He attended the county schools and for about a year the Scranton Schools. In 1890 he graduated from the School of the Lackawanna in Scranton, where he prepared to enter Lehigh University. In 1896 he graduated from Lehigh with the degree of Electrical Engineer, honorary fraternity Tau Beta Pi. At that time the outlook in mechanical work seemed best and he went with the Link-Belt Engineering Co. at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Two years later the Allis-Chalmers Mfg. Co. was formed and at the suggestion of older Lehigh men he went with them at their Scranton, Pennsylvania, plant. He was soon placed in charge of the Sugar Machinery Depts. and remained in the work until 1903. His next work was a superintendent of the Lehigh Foundry Co. at Catasauqua, Pennsylvania, where he remained two years.

In 1905 the Allis-Chalmers Mfg. Co. offered him a position at their head office in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, and in January he moved to Milwaukee. He was with these people until January, 1919. Most of this period he was assistant to the manager of the Pump and Hydraulic Dept. At that time he became interested with his brother-in-law in the foam method of extinguishing oil fires and helped organize the Foamite-Firefoam Co., and was Vice-President until 1923, when the company was sold to other interests.

He then returned to the Pump business and became connected with the Scranton Pump Mfg. Co., of Scranton, Pennsylvania. After a period at Scranton he moved to New York City to open an office for them and in 1928 expanded his interests and added the New York representation of the Trenite Corp., of Trenton, New Jersey.

THE GENEALOGY of FLORY-DINKEY FAMILY

Since then he has been in business for himself as representative of the Trenite Corp. and others in New York City. He lives in Green Village, Morris County, New Jersey, where he has a country home and $7\frac{1}{2}$ acres of land and is interested in growing fruit and flowers.

COBB TRADITION

"The History of Abbingdon, Mass.," has been handed down in our family for generations as having the record of the first Cobbs in America. There and elsewhere, we find Thomas Cobb and his wife, a daughter of Thomas Banister, coming from England and being quarantined outside of Boston, Aug. 12, 1685. Thomas Banister went on to Boston and Thomas Cobb and his wife settled in Roxbury and later Hingham.

Thomas, his son, b. Ca. 1692, married Oct. 14, 1717, Mercy Freeman Ca. 1692-Dec. 2, 1759, of Eastham; Richard, Elisha, and Alice we know little of; John, b. 1697 in Hingham, married Sarah Derby; there was also a daughter.

Thomas married Mercy Freeman at the Truro, Massachusetts, Church on Oct. 14, 1717. Mercy is a great-great-granddaughter of William Brewster of the Mayflower. They were admitted to the Truro Church on July 18, 1725, and a week later the three older children were Covenant Owners. There is an "intention of marriage, Aug. 18, 1744, between Mrs. Mercy Cobb, of Truro, and Mr. Asa Selew, of Harwich", which is two years after her last child by Thomas.

Children:

1. Thomas, Jr., b. July 4, 1720; m. Sept. 9, 1742, Ruth Collins.
2. Richard, b. 1722; m. Elizabeth Treat.
3. Tamzin, b. 1724; m. Lot Harding.
4. Joseph, b. 1726; m. Rachael Mulford.
5. Freeman, bap. Nov. 24, 1728; d. 1758.
6. Elisha, bap. Nov. 22, 1730; m. Doane Dorcas.
7. Betty, bap. Feb. 29, 1732; m. Simon Hopkins.
8. Sarah, bap. Sept. 24, 1735.
9. Mercy, bap. Apr. 25, 1742.

Thomas Cobb, Jr., was admitted to the Truro Church on May 8, 1743. His wife appears not to have joined. I do not know if he named his fourth child for an apparent stepfather, Asa Selew.

Children:

1. Elizabeth, bap. Dec. 18, 1743.
2. John, bap. Jan. 19, 1745; d. Dec. 23, 1757.
3. Mercy, bap. Oct. 18, 1747.
4. Asa, bap. Oct. 1, 1749.
5. Ruth, bap. May 3, 1751.

8. John, b. 1757; d. Oct. 6, 1759.

- (105) SARAH STEPHENS, b. 1753; d. Apr. 9, 1816; bur. Jefferson Township.

Asa Cobb and Sarah Stephens lived at Quaker Hill, New York, and then Newburgh, Orange County, New York. In 1784 they moved to Cobbs Mountain near Scranton in what was formerly known as Luzerne and now Lackawanna County, where they had a tavern on the road to the west. During the Wyoming Massacre the people fled to the Cobbs' and stayed there over night. Apparently they returned to Wallkill for a short time around 1790 as they appear in the New York Census at Wallkill and also Salem, Luzerne County, Pa. Sarah is buried with three of the children back of what was Joseph Cobb's home. (William, Henry, and Asa.) Other Cobbs are buried in two plots back of the church near the railroad. Asa is buried on Elizha Potter's place on the east boundary line. Asa served in the Revolution in Colonel James McClaghry's Ulster County, Second Regiment of Militia.

SHARPLESS

The Sharpless family came from Hatherton, Cheshire, England. They are traceable to Adam Sharpless, 1320. The right to the coat of arms was recognized by the Herald in 1664. Sharpless Hall, the ancestral home, is near Bolton, Lancashire.

JEFFREY SHARPLESS, of Wybunbury, d. Dec. 15, 1661; m. Apr. 27, 1611.

MARGARET ASHLEY, d. Jan. 21, 1643; bur. Wybunbury.

Their children were all born in England. Jeffrey's father probably was Richard (1555-1641), who married Cicely.

Jeffrey and Margaret's Children:

LEWIS

Welsh genealogists trace the Lewis' from the Lewis' of Van who are considered of great antiquity and the direct descendants of ancient Welsh kings. From them, through Gwathford, who lived in the Fifth Century, can be traced the Lewis' of Glamorgan County. The Lewis' coat of arms was used in this country as late as 1707. Ralph was the son of Ralph Lewis, of Llanishen, who married Ann Pritchard (Richard). Her parents were Richard Evan, of Collena, and Catherine Basset. It is through Ann Pritchard the Royal Lineage is traced.

RALPH LEWIS, d. Sept., 1712; bur. Pennsylvania.

Hannah was the daughter of Eunice Nicol and Alexander Osborne. The Farnhams came from Connecticut about 1700, made a clearing in the vicinity of Honesdale, built a cabin and planted a few things. The Indians came on the warpath. They took what they could readily carry with them and buried the rest of the utensils in the ground and went back to Connecticut. After the Indians had settled down they returned to their cabin to find it burned to the ground and no trace of what they had buried. They then went into New York State, lived at Goshen, until they came to Luzerne County about 1811-12. Eliab was born in Connecticut, as were the first six or eight of their children.

Donald Lord Finlayson, Professor Fine Arts, born September 20, 1897, Rye Beach, N. H., son of Archibald and Elizabeth Carrie Lord; B. S., Dartmouth, 1919; M. A., Brown, 1923; P. G., Harvard, 1924-25; Proctor Fellow, Princeton, 1924-25; Mus. Asst., Rhode Island School of Design, 1921-23; Asst. Professor Fine Arts, Wells College, Aurora, New York, 1925-27; Asso. Professor, 1927-28; Asst. Professor, Cornell University, 1928-35; Professor since 1935; lecturer, European tours, Bureau of University Travel, 1926-28; member Coll. Art Assn.; Archaeology Institute of America; Alpha Phi Delta. Author: "Michelangelo the Man," 1935.

He lived the latter part of his childhood at Kennebunk, Maine. The ell of the Kennebunk house was built in 1750-1760 and the large part in 1804. Circuit Court was held in it when it was known as the Jones Clark House from the man who built it. Soon after being built it was bought by William Lord, who left it to his son, Robert Lord, and for years the house was and is known as the Robert Lord Mansion. It is as the Robert Lord Mansion that the house is listed in the "White Pine Series" of Architecture and in other architectural books. This Robert Lord was Donald's grandfather who left the house to his three daughters, Ella Crain, Elizabeth Lord Finlayson, and Frances Augusta Lord. The last two bought out the Crain share from Robert N. Crain's (son of Ella) widow. Then after the death of Elizabeth L. Finlayson, her children, Donald, and Mary F. Cheever, bought Mrs. Lord's share and later Donald bought Mrs. Cheever's share.

Elizabeth Dinkey was born June 25, 1900. Attended N. Brad-dock Public School for five and a half years, then Thurston Preparatory School, graduating in 1919. In 1923 was graduated from Vassar College with the degree of Bachelor of Arts. Traveled in Europe for four months, the winter of 1924-25; attended Carnegie Library School and was granted the degree of Bachelor of Library Science by Carnegie Institute of Technology.

On June 16, 1926, married Donald Lord Finalyson in Pittsburgh by Rev. A. R. Robinson. Upon returning from Europe, made their home in Aurora on Cayuga Lake, N. Y., where Donald taught History of Art in Wells College. In 1928 moved to Ithaca when Donald began teaching at Cornell.
